PUBLIC PROGRAM AS PART OF THE DARK MOFO FESTIVAL

This program of FREE public events and guided talks will extend audiences' knowledge and understanding of Julie's complex and inventive art practice as presented in the exhibition Julie Gough: Tense Past.

Beyond TMAG, the exhibition continues on the Queens Domain with Missing or Dead as part of Dark Path. In addition Festival patrons can enjoy an exhibition by Tasmanian artist Patrick Hall at Narryna House Museum in Battery Point.

TMAG ART TRAIL

Make a journey of TMAG's festival offerings by beginning your trail in Battery Point at Narryna House Museum where Patrick Hall's evocative installation work If They Should Accidentally Fall has taken up residence for the festival. Listen to artist talks at 4:30 pm on Friday and Saturday nights during Dark Mofo, then continue on to TMAG for the Tense Past talks at 6:00 pm. Conclude your evening by making your way along the Dark Path to experience Missing or Dead.
